

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

JUAN CARLOS CALDERON,

Plaintiff,

v.

K. ALLISON, et al.,

Defendants.

No. 2:21-cv-01896-CKD P

ORDER

Plaintiff is a state inmate proceeding pro se and in forma pauperis in this civil rights action filed pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. This proceeding was referred to this court by Local Rule 302 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1).

On September 29, 2022, the court dismissed plaintiff's second amended complaint but granted him leave to amend. ECF No. 19. The amended complaint was dismissed because the court was unable to "discern from the numerous allegations whether this is a case of retaliation, deliberate indifference to serious medical needs, the failure to protect plaintiff from harm by other inmates, or a habeas corpus challenge to plaintiff's criminal conviction." ECF No. 19 at 7. Plaintiff was warned that "his continued failure to improperly join multiple unrelated defendants into a single civil action will result in a recommendation that this matter be dismissed pursuant to Rule 41(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure." Id.

On October 26, 2022, plaintiff filed a third amended complaint that is now before the 1 court for screening. ECF No. 20.

2 I. Screening Requirement

3 As plaintiff was previously advised, the court is required to screen complaints brought by 4 prisoners seeking relief against a governmental entity or officer or employee of a governmental 5 entity. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a). The court must dismiss a complaint or portion thereof if the 6 prisoner has raised claims that are legally “frivolous or malicious,” that fail to state a claim upon 7 which relief may be granted, or that seek monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from 8 such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b)(1), (2).

9 II. Allegations in the Third Amended Complaint

10 In his third amended complaint, plaintiff clarifies that all information about his 1992 11 criminal conviction is “for reference only” and is not for the purpose of “challenging the fact of 12 imprisonment and lawfulness of the conviction.” ECF No. 20 at 2.¹

13 While plaintiff has narrowed the focus of his amended complaint, the allegations still 14 consist largely of sweeping conclusory statements that do not contain any supporting facts.²
15 Named as defendants are various correctional, medical, mail, grievance, and John Doe officers 16 employed at Mule Creek State Prison as well as the prison warden and the Secretary of the 17 California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (“CDCR”).

18 Plaintiff generally alleges that the CDCR Secretary, prison warden, the associate warden 19 and John Does 26-40 failed to intervene on his behalf in their supervisory capacity over the 20 remaining defendants. ECF No. 20 at 4. Thus, according to plaintiff, these defendants were 21 ¹Therefore, the court disregards any and all potential habeas corpus claims referred to in the third 22 amended complaint. When a state prisoner challenges the legality of his custody and the relief he 23 seeks is the determination of his entitlement to an earlier or immediate release, his sole federal 24 remedy is a writ of habeas corpus which plaintiff would seek under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. Preiser v.

25 Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 475, 500 (1973). Also, to the extent plaintiff seeks damages, plaintiff is informed he cannot proceed on a §1983 claim for damages if the claim implies the invalidity of his conviction or sentence. Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 487 (1994).

26 ² This screening order is limited to the factual allegations against specific named defendants in the third amended complaint. The allegations bereft of factual support are not mentioned herein for the purposes of judicial economy. These include, but are not limited to, the “general abuse and 27 punishment caused by this sexual experimentation with invasion of privacy torts,” plaintiff’s “active health problems,” and the “lagal [sic] claims for relief” sections of the amended 28 complaint.

1 deliberately indifferent to his constitutional rights. Id.

2 Since September 11, 2001, defendants Rudas, Wong, and John Does 11-20 used chemical 3 solutions on plaintiff's food and the air he breathes causing a throat infection, stomach ulcers, 4 skin irritations, blood pressure changes, and a chicken pox infection. ECF No. 20 at 7. These 5 same defendants denied plaintiff unspecified medical care before and after plaintiff's 6 hospitalization on April 11, 2017. ECF No. 20 at 8. Lastly, these defendants ordered plaintiff 7 transferred to the gym in January 2021 in order to harass him. ECF No. 20 at 9.

8 On March 17, 2021, defendants Holmes, McTaggact, Gamez, and Briones conducted cell 9 searches and unlawfully confiscated and disposed of plaintiff's personal property without due 10 process. Id. at 9.

11 In May and July 2021, defendants Briones, Tillary, and Gamez denied plaintiff a job as a 12 kitchen worker. Id. at 10.

13 On December 16, 2021, defendants Mora, Vue and Briones opened plaintiff's cell door 14 and watched as plaintiff was assaulted by another inmate.

15 III. Legal Standards

16 A. Linkage Requirement

17 The civil rights statute requires that there be an actual connection or link between the 18 actions of the defendants and the deprivation alleged to have been suffered by plaintiff. See 19 Monell v. Department of Social Services, 436 U.S. 658 (1978); Rizzo v. Goode, 423 U.S. 362 20 (1976). The Ninth Circuit has held that “[a] person ‘subjects’ another to the deprivation of a 21 constitutional right, within the meaning of section 1983, if he does an affirmative act, participates 22 in another's affirmative acts or omits to perform an act which he is legally required to do that 23 causes the deprivation of which complaint is made.” Johnson v. Duffy, 588 F.2d 740, 743 (9th 24 Cir. 1978) (citation omitted). In order to state a claim for relief under section 1983, plaintiff must 25 link each named defendant with some affirmative act or omission that demonstrates a violation of 26 plaintiff's federal rights.

27 B. Supervisory Liability

28 Government officials may not be held liable for the unconstitutional conduct of their

1 subordinates under a theory of respondeat superior. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 677 (2009)
2 (“In a § 1983 suit ... the term “supervisory liability” is a misnomer. Absent vicarious liability, 3 each Government official, his or her title notwithstanding is only liable for his or her own 4 misconduct.”). When the named defendant holds a supervisory position, the causal link between 5 the defendant and the claimed constitutional violation must be specifically alleged; that is, a 6 plaintiff must allege some facts indicating that the defendant either personally participated in or 7 directed the alleged deprivation of constitutional rights or knew of the violations and failed to act
8 to prevent them. See Fayle v. Stapley, 607 F.2d 858, 862 (9th Cir. 1979); Taylor v. List, 880 F.2d 9 1040, 1045 (9th Cir. 1989); Mosher v. Saalfeld, 589 F.2d 438, 441 (9th Cir. 1978).

10 C. Loss of Property

11 The United States Supreme Court has held that “an unauthorized intentional deprivation 12 of property by a state employee does not constitute a violation of the procedural requirements of 13 the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment if a meaningful postdeprivation remedy for 14 the loss is available.” Hudson v. Palmer, 468 U.S. 517, 533 (1984). Thus, where the state 15 provides a meaningful postdeprivation remedy, only authorized, intentional deprivations 16 constitute actionable violations of the Due Process Clause. An authorized deprivation is one 17 carried out pursuant to established state procedures, regulations, or statutes. Piatt v. McDougall, 18 773 F.2d 1032, 1036 (9th Cir. 1985); see also Knudson v. City of Ellensburg, 832 F.2d 1142, 19 1149 (9th Cir. 1987).

20 D. Retaliation

21 Prison officials generally cannot retaliate against inmates for exercising First Amendment 22 rights. Rizzo v. Dawson, 778 F.2d 527, 531 (9th Cir. 1985). Because a prisoner’s First 23 Amendment rights are necessarily curtailed, however, a successful retaliation claim requires a 24 finding that “the prison authorities’ retaliatory action did not advance legitimate goals of the 25 correctional institution or was not tailored narrowly enough to achieve such goals.” Id. at 532.
26 The plaintiff bears the burden of pleading and proving the absence of legitimate correctional 27 goals for the conduct of which he complains. Pratt v. Rowland, 65 F.3d 802, 806 (9th Cir. 1995).
28 In order to state a claim for retaliation, plaintiff must also point to facts indicating a causal

1 connection between the adverse action and the protected conduct. Watison v. Carter, 668 F.3d
2 1108, 1114 (9th Cir. 2012).

3 IV. Analysis

4 After conducting the required screening, the court finds that plaintiff may proceed on the 5 Eighth Amendment failure to protect claims against defendants Brones, Mora, and Vue. The 6 property claims against defendants Holmes and McTaggact fail to state a cognizable claim for 7 relief based on the availability of a meaningful postdeprivation remedy provided under California 8 law. See Hudson v. Palmer, 468 U.S. 517, 533 (1984). Plaintiff does not allege that the denial of 9 a kitchen job and any of the harassment against him was done in retaliation for any protected 10 conduct in which he engaged. See Watison v. Carter, 668 F.3d 1108, 1114 (9th Cir. 2012).
11 Therefore, these allegations against defendants Gamez, Tillary, Wong, and Brones fail to state a 12 claim upon which relief may be granted. The allegations against defendants Allison and Covello 13 are based entirely on their supervisory capacity of the remaining defendants. However, plaintiff 14 has not alleged any facts indicating that these defendants either personally participated in or 15 directed the alleged deprivation of constitutional rights or knew of the violations and failed to act
16 to prevent them. See Fayle v. Stapley, 607 F.2d 858, 862 (9th Cir. 1979). These allegations 17 therefore fail to state a claim against defendants Allison and Covello. The claims related to the 18 use of chemical solutions and denial of unidentified medical care by defendants Rudas and Wong 19 are too conclusory to state a cognizable claim for relief. These vague and conclusory allegations 20 of official participation in civil rights violations are not sufficient to state a claim. Ivey v. Board 21 of Regents, 673 F.2d 266, 268 (9th Cir. 1982).

22 Plaintiff has the option of: 1) proceeding immediately on the Eighth Amendment 23 failure to protect claims against defendants Brones, Mora, and Vue; or, 2) he may attempt 24 to cure the defects with respect to the remaining claims and defendants by filing a fourth 25 amended complaint. See Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1126–27 (9th Cir. 2000) (en banc) 26 (district courts must afford pro se litigants an opportunity to amend to correct any deficiency in 27 their complaints). If plaintiff chooses to proceed on the Eighth Amendment failure to protect 28 claims found cognizable in this screening order, the court will construe this as a request to

1 voluntarily dismiss the remaining claims and defendants pursuant to Rule 41(a)(1)(i) of the 2 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Plaintiff is granted leave to file a fourth amended complaint
3 should he decide that he does not want to immediately proceed on the Eighth Amendment failure 4 to protect claims against defendants Brones, Mora, and Vue that were found cognizable in this 5 screening order.

6 If plaintiff chooses to further amend the complaint, plaintiff must demonstrate how the 7 conditions complained of have resulted in a deprivation of plaintiff's constitutional rights. See 8 Ellis v. Cassidy, 625 F.2d 227 (9th Cir. 1980). Also, in any amended complaint, plaintiff must 9 allege in specific terms how each named defendant is involved. There can be no liability under 10 42 U.S.C. § 1983 unless there is some affirmative link or connection between a defendant's 11 actions and the claimed deprivation. Rizzo v. Goode, 423 U.S. 362 (1976). Furthermore, vague 12 and conclusory allegations of official participation in civil rights violations are not sufficient.
13 Ivey v. Board of Regents, 673 F.2d 266, 268 (9th Cir. 1982).

14 Finally, plaintiff is informed that the court cannot refer to a prior pleading in order to 15 make plaintiff's amended complaint complete. Local Rule 220 requires that an amended 16 complaint be complete in itself without reference to any prior pleading. This is because, as a 17 general rule, an amended complaint supersedes the original complaint. See Loux v. Rhay, 375 18 F.2d 55, 57 (9th Cir. 1967). Once plaintiff files an amended complaint, the original pleading no 19 longer serves any function in the case. Therefore, in an amended complaint, as in an original 20 complaint, each claim and the involvement of each defendant must be sufficiently alleged.

21 V. Plain Language Summary for Pro Se Party

22 The following information is meant to explain this order in plain English and is not 23 intended as legal advice.

24 Some of the allegations in the third amended complaint state claims for relief against the 25 defendants, and some do not. You must decide if you want to (1) proceed immediately on the 26 Eighth Amendment failure to protect claims against defendants Brones, Mora, and Vue; or, (2) 27 amend the complaint to fix the problems identified in this order with respect to the remaining 28 claims and defendants. Once you decide, you must complete the attached Notice of Election

1 form by checking only one box and returning it to the court.

2 Once the court receives the Notice of Election, it will issue an order telling you what you 3 need to do next. If you do not return this Notice, the court will construe this failure as consent to 4 dismiss the non-cognizable claims and will order service of the complaint only on the Eighth 5 Amendment failure to protect claims against defendants Briones, Mora, and Vue.

6 Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that:

- 7 1. Plaintiff has the option to: 1) proceed immediately on the Eighth Amendment failure 8 to protect claims against defendants Briones, Mora, and Vue; or, 2) he may attempt to 9 cure the defects identified in this order with respect to the remaining claims and 10 defendants by filing a fourth amended complaint
- 11 2. Within 21 days from the date of this order, plaintiff shall complete and return the 12 attached Notice of Election form notifying the court whether he wants to proceed on 13 the screened third amended complaint or whether he wants time to file a fourth 14 amended complaint to fix the deficiencies with respect to the remaining claims and 15 defendants.
- 16 3. If plaintiff fails to return the attached Notice of Election within the time provided, the 17 court will construe this failure as consent to proceed only on the cognizable claims 18 identified in this screening order and to dismiss the remaining claims and defendants.
